

Millennium Financial Focus

Log in to your TIAA Account

Log in to your Schwab Account

2019 IRA Contribution Deadline Has Been Extended:

Due to the coronavirus tax filing extension, there's still time to make a regular IRA contribution for 2019. You have until your tax return due date (not including extensions) to contribute up to $6,000 for 2019 ($7,000 if you were age 50 or older on December 31, 2019). For most taxpayers, the contribution deadline for 2019 is July 15, 2020.

For more information click here

Decisions, Decisions: Choosing Among Retirement Plan Contribution Types:

Roth or pre-tax is a question that is often asked when deciding how to contribute to your 403(b) plan. While there are many factors that determine which method might be best for your situation, this article breaks down the differences between the two and how they can work with your retirement goals.

For more information click here

What You Need To Know About Social Security:

Social Security is a piece of retirement planning that comes with a lot of decisions that can have a lasting impact on your overall retirement. This article breaks down some of the things to consider when deciding when to file for Social Security

For more information click here

Watch Out for Coronavirus Scams:

Fraudsters and scam artists are always looking for new ways to prey on consumers. Now they are using the same tactics to take advantage of consumers' heightened financial and health concerns over the coronavirus pandemic. This article will shed some light on what some of these scams are and how you can spot them.

For more information click here

Coronavirus Affects Federal, State, and Local Deadlines:

The IRA contribution deadline is not the only thing that has been delayed due to COVID-19. Federal, state, and local governments have extended a number of deadlines amid the coronavirus pandemic. Here are just a few of the deadlines that have been affected.

For more information click here

To schedule an appointment, please contact us at schedule@mcmva.com or toll free at 877-435-2489.

*Please do not leave financial requests on voicemail or send by email as they cannot be processed without verbal confirmation. For your security, any confidential information such as social security numbers and account numbers should only be sent by secure email or faxed to 804-346-1044, Attn: Client Service Team.